JACKSONVILLE, ALABAMA.

SATURDAY, JAN. 4th, 1873.

We have very little of political news to record this week, both Congress and our Legislature being in recess. Up to the adjournment of the Legislature for the Christmas holidays, the Radicals claimed that no permanent organization had been taken place under the Attorney-General's plan. Our reason for this unexpected delay of the Radicals may be that they found themselves without a majority in the Senate, and wanted further time in which to perfect some new villainy by which the unkindly demagogical majority in the Senate might be done away with. Another reason may be that they had doubts as to the legality of Spencer's election by themselves at the U. S. Court room, and desired to try it over the second Tuesday after the permanent organization of the Legislature—the time prescribed by the Constitution. This time would have elapsed during the holidays, if they had acknowledged a permanent organization before the recess.

Pretending to accept readily the plan of adjustment laid down by the Attorney-General, the unobedient radicals have evaded it at every turn; and while pretending acquiescence, have gone on from day to day legislating scheme after scheme to rob the people of this State. After going to the capital and there, in common with the Democrats, transacting business, they have afterwards gone to the United States Court-room and legislated as if they were the only true and lawful Legislature. This morning McKinstry may be found at the capital presiding over a Senate in which there is a majority of Democrats; this evening he may be found at the U. S. Court-room presiding over a so-called Senate composed of sinners pure and simple. Persons likewise divide their favors between the two places and the two bodies. Bills passed one day by the Radical mob at the U. S. Court-room have been signed the following day by Parsons and McKinstry while presiding over the Legislature at the capital. Among the bills passed by the Radical wing of the Legislature, while thus doling from point to point, are two which intimately affect the people of Alabama. These are, first, a bill authorizing the issue and sale of two million dollars more of bonds; and, second, a bill to increase the present rate of taxation one hundred per cent. The State may pay the bonds issued in this fraudulent and illegal way, and the people may consent to pay just double their present taxes, under a law made in such a manner, but we do not believe it. The people will disregard every law made by the Court House Rump, and they ought to do so.

Radical outrages in Arkansas exceed those of Louisiana and Alabama combined. In Arkansas the Radicals were about two to one of the Liberals. About fifteen thousand Liberal voters were scratched from the registration lists by Radical officials, and thus deprived of their votes; but still the Liberals beat them by a handsome majority. Radical election officers then threw out whole ballots until they supposed they had the election safe. But after all this it is questionable if the Liberals will not have the Legislature when it meets February. This the Radicals intend to try to prevent by new villainies, while the Democrats declare they will fight before yielding an inch further. A little blood letting in all the States mentioned would not hurt.

The Great Flood.—Among all the sections of country which have suffered by the late disastrous rise of rivers and creeks, few if any have exceeded the south-western portion of this country, what is known as Sulphur Springs precinct. We are credibly informed that the waters of Tallapoosa, Coosa and Olathe creeks, near their mouths, rose eight feet higher than ever before known. The large bridge near Middleton, with many others were swept away; and almost incalculable damage done to mills, fences, stock, crops, and land. Truly, it seems to be a time of great and heavy calamities for our whole country. The North seems to be tried by fire and the South by flood.

Capt. J. M. Renfro, the hardiest man in the Legislature, has been with his friends in Jacksonville since during the Christmas holidays. We are glad to say that Capt. R. was opposed to the plan of adjustment proposed by the Attorney-General, and was with difficulty dissuaded from entering his protest against the action of the Legislature at the capital in adopting it.

The Selma Times thinks it sees the coming storm among newspapers, and therefore cuts down expenses twenty per cent, by reducing the size of the paper without reducing the amount of its reading matter. The Times evinces sound judgment in thus "reducing sail" to meet the storm.

For centuries Christmas has been celebrated.—Griffin News.

Yes, eighteen hundred and seventy-two times, and you need not attempt to claim any originality of discovery on that point.—Rome Commercial.

Your parding, A. R., but somewhere about fifteen hundred and seventy-two times would be nearer the truth.

The Floods—Rise of the Etowah, Catoosa and Coosa Rivers.

(Special Correspondence of the Atlanta Herald.)

Kingsport, December 24, 1872.

For five days previous to the hard rain on Monday night it rained with occasional showers, and on Monday it simply poured in torrents. Here, at Kingsport, the small creek that flows by this place rose so rapidly that persons occupying the railroad shanties had to swim for their lives. In one instance, I am told, a little boy was swept up and carried by the flood, and the father, on reaching out his hand, struck it against a floating plank which proved to be a part of the floor. He at once jumped up and waded to the shore, and found his child floating before him. He had fifteen bales of cotton floated from his gin-house, and barely had time to save his mules and other stock from drowning. The Rome railroad washed up in several places, and for five days no trains could pass. The Selma, Rome and Dalton road has been literally washed up for miles, and I learn from General Pennington that in places where water was never known before it was eight feet deep. At Rockmart the damage was considerable. The banks of the Etowah are so high and the stream so rapid that but little damage, if any, was done to farms on this river, except near Rome, and there they were simply overflowed by back-water, which tumbled rather than rushed.

MR. R. G. YOUNG PARDONED BY PRESIDENT GRANT.

HIS RETURN FROM THE ALABAMA PRISON.

HOW THE KID KICK PRISONERS FARE!

We learn from the Atlanta Herald that Mr. R. G. Young of Tallapoosa county, who was his way home from Albany penitentiary New York, to which place he had been sentenced by the United States District Court last summer, while in session in this city, "for violation of the enforcement act," passed through Atlanta on the 18th inst. The Herald reporter interviewed Mr. Young with the following result: Mr. Young is 65 years of age, and has the appearance of one wasting away from some chronic disease, and we judge that his release was only designed to save expense to the Government. His statement was brief, we give it as reported. He was arrested last March, and confined in jail until June, when he was tried before the United States Court and sentenced to a term of ten years in the Albany penitentiary, with a fine of $5,000. The parties who were instrumental in his conviction had been charged with the same offence, but turned State's evidence, and were acquitted. Mr. Young denies the statements made by them, and says they were influenced by officials to do so. He arrived at Albany on the 31 of July on the succeeding day the prisoners were released in commutation of the debt. Afterward he was put to labor at shoe making, which occupation he followed until his pardon was received on the 12th inst. Upon being released he was furnished with $10 in money, but no transportation. With this sum he purchased his way to New York city, when an Alabama friend, Mr. Handley, furnished him the requisite means to pay his way home. Mr. Young states that he was well treated, received plenty of wholesome food and comfortable quarters, but was not allowed to talk with any one. He was aged twenty-six years, was also sentenced at the same time. They were allowed to occupy the same cell at night. The son failed to secure his pardon, and still remains in prison with his father. He states that there are about 700 prisoners at Albany, but that he cannot communicate any facts connected with his confinement but that he is well treated. He left at 4 P. M. last evening for his home in Alabama.

The New Alabama Bonds.

The Richmond Dispatch, thus pertinently speaks about the bonds of the Parsons gang of fools and thieves. "The carpet-baggers and negroes in Alabama are pursuing their old game of converting the credit of the State into money with which to fill their pockets. The traffic of the arts of the Legislature in which barter and carpet-bagging readily find way is generally the passage of a measure for the issue and sale of State bonds, and in every instance the money raised by the sale of bonds issued by such bodies has been misappropriated. In the late session, and the southern States solidified with largely increased numbers, and numerous cases of fraud between States and bondholders have been originated. Even now Mr. Mitchell sets out for Alabama with his pockets full of bonds of that State issued under the authority of the State and carpet-bag Legislature sitting at the Court House in Montgomery. These bonds this morning are going out to sell, and he goes out anxious for a market, and the capitalists that out all about the transaction of the issue of them. This no doubt is my agent of a sure body will sell at any price, and may or may not bring back the proceeds. He may go to the banks, and approach the banks, and sell them at a price, and he will little wonder the State of Alabama whether he returns or not, or whether he steals the money he gets or enables the really Legislature to steal it by paying it over to the custody of the banks. If the bonds are sold they will be lost to Alabama, and if the laws shall bind that State for their redemption it will be another act of outrage perpetrated upon a southern State by wretches—scoundrels and incompetents who have been kept in power by force of Federal bayonets. This is one of those great crimes which cry aloud to heaven for revenge, and yet in this day and in this land of unexampled enterprise and of unsurpassed facilities for the diffusion of information there is some in difference among the majority of the people of the United States towards this great outrage that is amazing. The nation, or the controlling part of it, seems to be drunk—politically drunk, with the wrong and injustice, dead to the welfare of the Union. Assuredly the dignity and honor of the whole country is sadly impaired by political events in the South. The national power is seriously diminished by them, and the common interests of all the States, and the peace and wealth and physical force of the whole Union, demand that some remedy should be applied to check the disastrous political decadence of the Southern States. Justice would require the Federal Government to pay the entire addition to the debts of the southern States created by the corrupt bodies that have been put in power by Federal generals, or sustained in any manner of lawlessness by Federal bayonets.

TELEGRAPHIC.

NEW YORK, Dec. 27.

It is snowing again this morning, and it is the heaviest snow for 20 years. Thousands slept in their houses unable to get home. No mails left the city yesterday, and no mails have reached the postoffices since noon yesterday. Vessels are detained by the storm and there have been no arrivals from sea since yesterday. The tobacco factory of Leggett & Dunsen, of St. Louis, burned. Light wagons crossed the river on ice at Little Rock, Arkansas. A fire story building on 119 Franklin street, New York, burned. Adjoining building damaged. Loss $200,000. Snow slide six hundred feet wide and twelve deep at Little Cottonwood swept the sugar and the timber, and carried five hundred feet into Cottonwood creek, and four teams lost. Large fire in Tuscaloosa.

TUSCALOOSA, ALA., Dec. 27. About 10 o'clock last night a fire broke out in the square opposite the Old Bell Tavern, on Market street, in this city. The fire started in a small store, and three store houses immediately adjoining it were burned. The stores of Petersons and Bridges, and J. Hausman & Son, were also entirely destroyed. The National Bank saved its books, papers, and contents of its safes. The total loss by the fire is estimated at from twenty to twenty-five thousand dollars. The insurance on the property destroyed was very small.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 25. Fourteen houses were burned at Montana, Kansas. The weather at Milwaukee is the coldest ever known—30 degrees below zero. A man was frozen on the street. The train leaving Corvay, Ohio, went through a tunnel over Goose creek; two cars were burned; thirty-five persons were hurt and many injured.

An accident on the Madison, Jeffersonville and Indianapolis road killed three employees. The block on Center, between Leonard and North streets, New York, is burned. It is rumored that six girls were burned. Loss half million.

NEW YORK.

New York, Dec. 25.—The Bowers Theatre and Canterbury Hall were damaged by fire. The steamer Wild Cat, with the cargo Swallow, was sunk by ice near Galois. Five grand and a boy perished in the wreck. The steamer New York, for the Clifford Hotel was damaged, the guests escaped.

Details of the accident at Goose creek, near Pleasant Station, are horrible. The cars burned entirely. No water could be got, and the fire raged for hours. R. H. Ball, telegraph operator, was killed. No Southerners are in the list. Twenty-one were killed, sixteen of whom were charged beyond recognition. The houses of three additional people will under the wreck. The bodies of the six girls were recovered. Loss half million.

Vigilance committees at Vespella, California, hung Charles Allen, murderer.

The rear car on yesterday's train of the Indianapolis, Pennsylvania and Chicago road, ran off the track by a broken rail. Twenty were injured, three fatally. No Southerners.

A heavy northeast gale is prevailing at present. The trains approaching Philadelphia are delayed. Only fifty passengers were on the train wrecked near Prospect, Pennsylvania. Of whom twenty-five are dead and sixteen wounded. The passengers crowded into one car. The trucks crushed the cars, the only means of escape, catching fire. The passengers were killed.

The passenger train on the Ashburn Torpeka and Santa Fe road, is snow-bound. A nine year old boy was killed by a snow-ball thrown by a playmate.

LOUISVILLE, December 15.—Phillip Arnold, whose property was recently attached at the instance of Wm. Lent on account of the recent California diamond swindle, publishes a long defence in the "Courier-Journal," denying the charges against him, and saying that he never sold a dollar's worth of property to Lent, or had any contract with, or received any money from Lent at any time. He denies that the funds were actually lent, but alleges that the diamonds were honestly made, and the transactions in regard to it were all law. In himself, Slack, Harpending and G. D. Roberts, and all fair, and also says, after a full investigation by all parties, charges Lent with being a party to the swindle, and says that he is a scoundrel and a thief, and guilty of many swindling transactions privately.

Arnold says he has discovered a silver mine in Kentucky worth $300,000,000, and has bought for $200,000,000 all the property of the State of Kentucky. Wm. Wilson, a prominent lawyer of Harden county, where Arnold resides, passed through this city yesterday on a half of Arnold against the parties concerned with the swindle, and says he has been prospecting with Arnold, and knows he has made the silver mine discovery and purchase of the property.

GEORGIA.

ATLANTA, January 2.—The up and down passenger trains collided on the Macon and Western Railroad, thirty-seven miles from this city, this morning. Eight negroes were killed. Ten or twelve negroes and three whites were injured. Three cars and one engine were wrecked. Carloads of passengers were on board. The wreckage and train were a total wreck. The troops are unharmed. But gave active relief to the wounded. The negroes were emigrating to Mississippi.

Epithet "Cotton" was lately shown a rare curiosity, in the shape of an old almanac, printed in Nuremberg, in the year 1800, in the German language, edited by D. Mauritius Knaener, in which it is stated that at that time there was raging in portions of Germany and through the Holy Roman States an epidemic of working people of either sex, young or old, make more money at work for us in their spare moments, or all the time, than at anything else. Particulars free. Address, G. Sisson & Co, Portland, Maine.

Receiver's Notice.

By virtue of an Act of the General Assembly of Alabama, "To provide for administering the Securities that are or may be held by the State from Insurance Companies, which have ceased to do business or take risks in the State," approved Dec. 14th 1872, I have been appointed by the Governor of Alabama to the office of Receiver, to take charge of and collect or sell the Securities deposited with the Treasurer of Alabama by the "INTERNATIONAL FIRE INSURANCE CO. OF NEW YORK," and the "STATE INSURANCE CO. OF MISSOURI," and for the administration of the trusts attached to such securities.

N. In pursuance of law, I do hereby give notice that I require all parties interested to come forward on or before the 10th of January, 1873, to present their claims to me and receive their dividend. I further give notice that the decision and distribution then made will, under the law, be final, unless some party in writing of the particular matter dissented from.

JACKSONVILLE FEMALE ACADEMY.-We call special attention to the announcement of the opening exercises of the Jacksonville Female Academy. Its Principal, Rev. J. K. Armstrong, is a thoroughly educated gentleman, possessed of no ordinary talents, and is characterized by all those traits which enter into the formation of every thorough-bred and refined gentleman. He has won golden opinions among us during the past session of the institution, and has not failed to give more than entire satisfaction to all who have patronized the school. In fact we do not know of any similar institution which presents such favorable advantages for educating young ladies.

[From the St. Paul (Min.) Pioneer-] "I am the State."

The closing act in the drama of revolution, violence and anarchy in Louisiana, is on a par with that has preceded, and for present, tells the knell of the departed liberty.

The State Government has been overthrown by the Federal army, and a body of men, the mass of whom were not even candidates before the people, have been set up as a Legislature, at the point of the bayonet. This mass of perjury and usurpation has been recognized by the Commander-in-Chief of the army, and to crown all, when the alarmed citizens hastened to select a committee of one hundred of their number to represent the actual situation, they were telegraphed not to come-that they should have no hearing. Was the Czar of despotic Russia ever guilty of a similar crime?

This last act has settled the future status of the citizens. They owe no allegiance to an authority not created by themselves, and should put the negro Governor and Custom house Legislature at open defiance. Everything they pretend to enact under the pretence of law, should be resisted; no taxes of any kind should be paid; and the new creations called courts should be treated with absolute contempt.

Allegiance and protection are dependent conditions under every form of government. The citizen owes nothing where he receives nothing. When one is withdrawn, every obligation of duty is discharged. Resistance to tyrants is not only the will of God, but the duty of man. Having established anarchy, the President has forfeited every claim to obedience on the part of citizens, who owe nothing to law, since they have been deprived of it. It is a cold and naked despotism, which should be thwarted at every turn, and conform to it in nothing.

But one thing more remains to fill this measure of infamy to the brim. That is to lift the President's brother-in-law, Casey, into the United States Senate on the bayonets of the soldiery. That will come next. It was for that the State government was abrogated. Let none deceive themselves as to the purpose. It is the beginning of a revolution that may yet shake the continent to its centre, and cover the land with blood and mourning. Liberty has utterly perished in one of our greatest States. How long, unless tyranny is resisted, can it survive elsewhere?

TELEGRAPHIC.

WASHINGTON, January 3.-The Herald's Washington dispatch says it appears that Attorney General Williams has been used as a cover for the usurpation by Federal bayonets in the Louisiana trouble. He has allowed himself to be made a target of attack in order to shield President Grant, personally, from the odium attached to the high-handed action of the government. Attorney General Williams has merely executed to orders of his chief. He has done nothing of his own initiative in the matter. The dispatch signed by him and addressed to Pinchback, recognizing him as the rightful Governor and Kellogg's faction in the State house in New Orleans as the rightful legislature, was dictated by Gen. Grant himself. It is even said that it went against his legal conscience to carry out the instructions of the President.

New Year's ADDRESS

OF THE CARRIER OF THE Jacksonville Republican,

FOR THE YEAR 1873.

Happy New Year! kind friends, I'm here once again, in spite of the winter's chill wind and its rain. I'm a pretty tough boy, the assertion is true, or I'd have died long ago lugging papers to you. All year I have toiled for you early and late, have furnished you news from all parts of the State, have been punctual, good-humored, extremely polite, and for your convenience have walked-Oh, a sight, have been cheerful and kind and tolerably civil. Considering I've had to play the part of a "Devil," So now let your gratitude prompt you to that; Which will cheer and make glad the young heart of poor Parr.

Yes, I greet you again with my annual song! In it I'll attempt to recount, not prolong, The joys and the sorrows, the weals and the woes, Of the year, which at twelve last night doffed its clothes; And sighing for rest in a weary voice said: "This late Father Time, please put me to bed!" Well, the first things which I do attempt to relate Will pertain to the matters of nation and State, And then, in due season, I'll come along down To items of interest in our county and town. I shall strive to omit nothing worthy the space, But arrange every "dot" in its own proper place.

The political events most important to all In our midst, occurred near the close of the fall; 'Twas the fall of the year, when weak nature must die, Then perished our hopes, now scattered they lie, But regrets that the National and State fights we lost Are now all removed. As the winter's cold frost Dissolves in the warm brilliant rays of the sun, So regrets are all lost in the pride of our "MAY!" Ah! MAY is our joy and the handiwork of the night, Amongst the "leg," which so bravely stood up for the right. Long may he wave! So may Beat No. 8, Whose citizens all take their politics straight.

Just right along here I'll forget not to tell That our Council has labored remarkably well, 'Tis composed of a David a man of great heart, A Leonidas who is as brave as he's smart, A William whose modesty is wonderful to see, A John who is firm and from vanity free, And last, but not least on the board is Sir Dick, Who is jovial and witty, funny and thick; Our Mayor is George who was born to control, He can put matters down, a wind of war like a scroll; But stop, I forgot to speak a word about Matt, He's a Marshal every inch of him, "how high was dat?"

Now since we've described in a measure our "Turks," Let us halt to consider a few of their works, The best, the most useful, the grandest of all, Is the great Water System-Oh, it is capital, And the new Street Lamps illumine the night, When the Queen of the heavens fails to lend us her light, Oh! they give to our village a gay pompous air, They're delightful, as long as we stay on the "square," But despite the brave works of the young councilmen, Their hearts are now burdened with grief and dire pain, Since the "mule" of their tenderest affections doth lie, Where grim Epizootic cannot "trifly."

Before I shall close permit me to say That our merchants are all doing well in their way, The Lawyers and Doctors and Teachers I think Are as usual not common, ah! I see some one wink, And then we've Mechanics as sober as good As ever shaped leather in town, or worked wood; Now friends one and all I've no more to say That cannot be said in some future day, Except to repeat my wish so sincere That to all this may be a most joyous New Year, May your lives as the birds be glad and free, So pull out your quarter, "I know it is there," And hand it to me.

How Lost, How Restored!

Just published a new edition of Dr. Culverwell's Celebrated Essay on the radical cure (without medicine) of SEMINAL WEAKNESS, or Seminal Weakness, involuntary Seminal Losses, Impotency, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediments to Marriage, etc., also Consumption, Rheumatism and Piles, induced by self-indulgence or sexual extravagance.

Price, in a sealed envelope, only 50 cents. The celebrated author, in this admirable essay, clearly demonstrates, from a 30 years' successful practice, that the alarming consequences of self-abuse may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicine or the application of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.

This Lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land. Sent under seal, in a plain envelope, to any address, postpaid, on receipt of six cents, or two post stamps. Also, Dr. Culverwell's "Marriage Guide," price 50 cents. Address the Publishers, CHAS. J. & CO. LITTLE & CO., 127 Broadway, New York, P. O. Box 4, 1872.

"J. N."—Who HE Is, Since the issue of yesterday's SUN, numerous readers have been anxious to know who "J. N.," styled "the immortal philosopher and orator," whose arrival in this city and section of the "National," we noted, is. In reply we, will say that "J. N." is a character better known in the Northern than in the Southern States, the son of respected parents, named Free, residing in Perry county, Ohio. He is by no means as simple as many take him to be, although eccentric in manner and habits. He was educated for the legal profession, and reports says, left his native hills for a Southern-city several years ago, where he was esteemed as a lawyer of more than average talent. While residing there, he was retained to defend a man charged with the crime of murder, and after a trial of some days succeeded in obtaining his acquittal; but so great was the effort of "J. N." in behalf of his client, that it impaired his reason. From that time "J. N." fancies that he is, and styles him self the greatest philosopher and orator of the age, and to enlighten the peo-or otherwise. He has traveled over every State in the Union, railroad conductors and hotel landlords chalking his hat everywhere. Mr. Free is a most harmless and unoffensive man.—Atlanta Sun.
